berroco: a tradition of beauty

Berroco was not one of the yarn brands that we carried when Jimmy Beans Wool first opened in 2002. In fact, as a new knitter and new owner of a humble 500 sq. ft. shop, it took me three-and-a-half years to get up the courage (and the money!) to ask Berroco if we could carry their wonderful yarns and patterns. I distinctly remember the first trade show I attended in 2003 - walking around, I was in awe of the booth that Berroco had set up. Still being new to the yarn industry, I didn't realize I was supposed to ask them if there was a sales rep nearby that I could speak to! When I finally mustered the courage to ask a rep to stop by, Marta McGinnis, the same wonderful woman who inspired our Knit Red book, showed up at our small shop. Tragically, Marta passed away from heart disease in 2008. Soon thereafter, I was introduced to another sales rep, Betsy Westman. It was at this point that our relationship with Berroco started to grow exponentially. I suspect it was because Betsy and I immediately bonded over our love for track and field. I participated in high school and had recently completed a 50k trail run, and Betsy, who moonlights as a high school track coach, had recently won the pentathlon at the USA Track and Field Nationals in the 50-55 age group! So, without Betsy – and our fun conversations about the high jump – we may never have developed the relationship we now have with Berroco.

As our inventory of Berroco yarns has grown, so has our relationship with this wonderful group of people. I knew it would be long-standing the first time I pitched one of my crazy ideas to the folks at Berroco. They were so receptive and supportive, I can hardly believe I was anxious! They have now partnered with us on things like Beans for Brains, our scholarship program, and Stitch Red, and they were one of the first to sign on for Knit Red. Even though we have been working with them for just under a decade, it wasn't until recently that I made a trip to Berroco's "Mill of Wonders" in rural Rhode Island. After spending a day getting to meet everyone, I felt like one of the gang. It is no wonder the Berroco brand has become a staple in the industry: this friendly, close-knit community is made up of creative and hard-working people who share in our passion for yarn.

Who is Berroco?

Caroline and Warren Wheelock

A good-question! But let's not get ahead of ourselves. Everyone has to start somewhere, and what we now call Berroco was first known by a completely different name: Stanley Woolen Mills. The mills were pioneered by Jerry Wheelock and others in the early 1800s (yes, more than 200 years ago!). Fun Fact: Jerry was one of the first to start producing woolen cloth in the United States. The textile industry has changed quite a bit over the last 200 years, and more than six generations of Wheelocks have changed with it. The firm first created a hand-knitting subsidiary in 1968 called Stanley Berroco. In 1987, Warren Wheelock broke the "Berroco" part of the business away completely to become the company we know and love today. And it's not just the company we love – it's Warren too! An extremely humble, down-to-earth, well-respected team player, Warren has made lifelong connections in the yarn industry - all of whom have nothing but kind words to say about him.

While you might be inclined to imagine Berroco as a huge warehouse teeming with workers and fancy machinery, it is actually a fairly modest operation and a close-knit community of co-workers. In fact, most of the current employees have been working at Berroco for more than a decade or two. Both Estelle, a warehouse manager and Bev, a customer service representative, have actually been working there longer than Warren!

Having spent so much time with each other over the years, it is no wonder that everyone is considered family at Berroco - and many of them literally are family! Caroline (pronounced Care-o-lean – she's French) manages all the purchasing and is married to Warren. Together, they manage the day to day operations of the company. As legend has it, Caroline's father, a non-English-speaking French yarn supplier, used to sell yarn to Susan Druding of Crystal Palace Yarns. Before Caroline and Warren first started dating, her father asked Susan if Warren was a good guy. Thankfully, Susan gave Warren the thumbs up! And the rest is, well, yarn history!

Stanley Woolen Mills, Uxbridge, MA

Warren Wheelock

From Uxbridge, Massachusetts, Warren runs the show at Berroco. Even though he's the boss, he still gets his hands dirty by helping with label layout and being a Mr. Fix-It when the machines around the mill need some TLC.

It's been three years since we received our first shipment of Vintage and we've been wondering what we did without it for so long. Between its incredible softness, easy care and a dazzling color pallet, what's not to love? Vintage is our go-to all-purpose yarn.

Berroco Bits...
Both Norah and Amanda (who has a degree in textiles) are "fabric" people.

When these ladies are working through a design vision, Brenda, part of the design team, helps to figure out how to translate their vision into knitting stitches. It's quite a team effort!

Berroco Bits...
Ever wonder how Berroco chooses photography locations?

Finding a great location has two parts. First, it has to be interesting. Second, it must work for multiple outfits - whether they're sweaters, tanks or shawls!

Berroco Bits...
Looking at the fashion of today, Norah and Amanda pull ideas from what they see in retail stores and websites; however, they make sure to mix the old with the new!
If we told you where they got their inspiration, we'd have to invade your stash!

Amanda Keep

Known for her keen design eye, Amanda wanted to be a librarian when she was 10, but ended up as one of the resident designers at Berroco. From Traverse City, Michigan, Amanda attended the Rhode Island School of Design to study textile design and studio art. You might know her from the many "how-to" videos on Berroco's website, but you probably couldn't tell how nervous she was when filming.

Fun Facts:

What's one thing very few people know about you?
I can play the pipe organ.

What do you think you could have been in a past life?
A raccoon.

What's the one song you always sing along to?
"I'm so Lonesome I could Cry"- but I swear I'm not sad and depressed! It's just a great song.

Norah Gaughan

We're sure you know of this popular designer! Norah is responsible for an entire collection of pattern books that our customers go crazy for! This lovely lady went to Brown University and graduated with a degree in Biology, and somehow ended up as one of the most well known knitwear designers.

Fun Facts:

While knitting or crafting, is there something you like to listen to or watch?
Radiolab, (a science, music-rich podcast).

What's one thing very few people know about you?
I am a trained soprano (with a not so great musical ear).

Do you know anyone famous?
Isaac Asimov, well met/knew...he made me a Shirley Temple when I was seven. My dad was a Science Fiction Illustrator and that's how I met Isaac.

Did you know...
Norah's mom was responsible for creating the first short-row shaping illustration for Vogue Knitting?
Now that's what we call famous!

Donna

Donna is into bee keeping. Her favorite color is green and she is over the moon about Remix. She is the central nervous system of the Berroco Design Office. She is the major proof reader, archivist, trunk show coordinator, and keeper of sweaters (among many other things).

Brenda

Brenda is a doll collector, a great mom and grandma, was once a car mechanic, previously owned a yarn shop and now is our pattern editor. Her favorite part of the design process is swatching. Norah and Amanda often count on her to help create just the right pattern. Brenda says that her goal in life is to end up a little old lady knitting in a rocking chair with a cat purring in her lap.
