

Hold Steady Colorblock Cowl

By Kristen Ashbaugh Helmreich
For Jimmy Beans Wool

The inspiration for this cowl came to me while on a road trip to Chico, CA to see my husband's favorite band in concert, The Hold Steady. The cowl isn't really inspired by the band itself, but more by my love for color blocking, chevrons, and those awesome hand-knit afghans of the 60s and 70s. I had one of these on my bed as a kid and I will always remember wrapping up in its warmth on chilly days. My husband and I keep blankets similar to these in our cars because you never know when you are going to get chilly on a drive. On that particular trip, I glanced at the blanket out of the corner of my eye, and the idea for this cowl was born. The cozy chunky Toboggan yarn from Classic Elite Yarns is the perfect blend of softness and warmth making this one of my all-time favorite knits!
